Major grant to finance after-school bridge

Nadine Wood, Barbara Heller and Charity Sack make plans to implement the after-school bridge program

Where is the future of bridge? In our youth.

What's the best way to enable young people to find out how wonderful a game bridge is? Through the schools.

What's the best way to work through the schools? Two possibilities -(1) after-school programs, and (2) bridge classes as part of the regular curriculum.

Getting schools all over North America to include bridge on their curriculum is a great idea, but not all that feasible at the moment. However, after-school bridge is very much doable.

That's why the ACBL Educational Foundation has made a grant of $80,000 as seed money to the Youth Underground Consortium. This group plans to institute after-school programs all over North America. They know this is a huge concept and a major job, so their first objective is to find the person who will research, develop and implement the idea.

The ACBL also is behind the program – the Board of Directors approved the project unanimously at its deliberations last week.

This will be a major position with a healthy salary. A job description has been prepared, and the com-

Levine, Priebe lead Senior Swiss

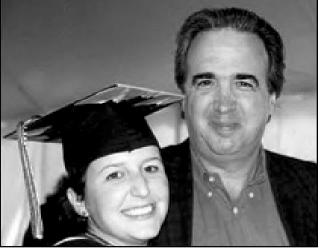

Teams captained by Mike Levine of Pinckney MI and James Priebe of Mississauga ON led 40 teams into today's final two sessions of the NABC Senior Swiss Teams. Playing with Levine are Zeke Jabbour, P.O. Sundelin, Arnie Fisher, Allan Siebert and Randy Pettit. Priebe is playing with Jerry Richardson, Alan Lee and Stephen Mackay.

British duo lead Red Ribbon

Jon Downing and Liam Johnstone are making their trip from England pay off. Going into today's final two sessions of the Red Ribbon Pairs, they had a 31.14-point lead over second-place Robert Beinfeild and Kelley Hwang of New York City. Scott Merritt and Jenni Hartsman of Champaign IL are close behind in third place.

Fire drill today

The Royal York Hotel has scheduled a required fire drill today at 4:45 p.m. It will be an alarm test only. It will not be necessary for guests to leave the hotel.

Glenn Eisenstein and his daughter Samantha

A family's trials

Regulars at NABCs have grown used to seeing Glenn Eisenstein, formerly of the New York area but now a resident of Florida. The following relates why you haven't seen him at many tournaments of late.

After the 1999 Fall NABC in Boston, my life took a drastic turn. My 23-year-old daughter, Samantha, was in her senior year at nearby Brandeis University, so Continued on page 5

Huge upset in Spingold

The team captained by Michael Levinson pulled off an upset of major proportions Tuesday, sending the No. 1 seeded team, led by Rose Meltzer, to the sidelines with a 134-89 defeat.

Levinson, of Daly City CA, is playing with Ai-Tai Lo, Reston VA; Lyle Poe Jr., Columbia MD, and Alan Schwartz, Fairfax VA. Meltzer's powerful squad, which will represent the U.S. in the Bermuda Bowl later this year, is Kyle Larsen, Peter Weichsel, Alan Sontag, Chip Martel and Lew Stansby.

No. 64 Levinson jumped out to an early lead and cruised to the surprising victory.

Another high seed, the No. 6 Steve Robinson squad, was also kayoed. They fell to the Sidney Brownstein sextet, 139-96.

Wagar down to eight

The Wagar Women's Knockout Teams enters the round of eight today with most of the top seeds advancing. The lone upset occurred when the No. 11 seed, a Canadian squad with Ralph Cohen as non-playing captain, knocked off the No. 6 team, led by Hjordis Eythorsdottir. The Canadians are Dianna Gordon, Sharyn Reus, Francine Cimon, Martine Lacroix and Ina Demme. They advanced with a 155-132 victory.

New Meckwell trio make their mark

Last summer, at the Indianapolis Regional, Matt Meckstroth sat down to play in the final of the top bracket of the morning knockout teams. Matt, 15, doesn't have a lot of experience in tournaments, so just being in the final was enough to make him jittery.

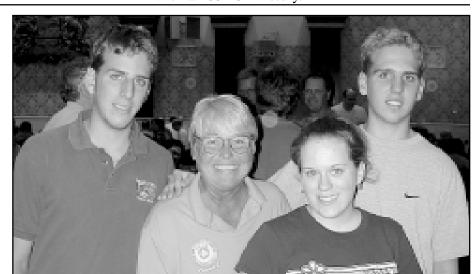

There was one other circumstance worth noting: sitting across the table from him was one of the best known, most highly regarded bridge players in the world – his dad, Jeff Meckstroth.

"I felt nervous at first because I didn't want to let my dad down," says Matt, a caddie at the 2001 Summer NABC in Toronto. "My dad is always encouraging, though. He never yells."

Matt is one of three offspring of Jeff Meckstroth and Eric Rodwell attending the Summer NABC. Matt's brother Rob, 18, and Sara Rodwell, 17, are also caddying. Sara's twin brother, Jeffrey, is in Toronto but is not attending the tournament.

All three youngsters are proud of their parents, often referred to as "Meckwell" and arguably the top bridge partnership in the world.

Intriguing endplay makes doubled game

Henry Wong of Hong Kong, a student at Tufts University, found an intriguing endplay on this deal from the second semifinal session of the Life Master Pairs.

> ♦975 ♥Q964 ♦ K Q J 10 8 3 ♦ Q J 10 3 2 ♦ 8 6 4 ♥ A J 7 2 ¥ 8 ♦ A 7 4 ♦952 ♣ A K 8 7 6 3 ♦ A K ♥ K 10 5 3 ♦ 6 ♣ QJ10954 West North South East Pass Pass 1 ♣ 1♦ 2 3♣ Dbl Pass 3♥ 4♥ Dbl All Pass

He won the opening spade lead and took a successful finesse to the ♥9. East won the ace when Wong continued with the ϕK , and a second spade went to Wong's ace. He ruffed a club and took two club discards on the good diamonds. Then he led another good diamond and pitched another club as West ruffed in. He ruffed the spade return, at which point this was the position:

♦ J 10 ♣ A K 8 7

Look it over – do you see the solution?

Wong led the $J, and West had no effective answer. He could discard a spade, in which case Wong would ruff low in dummy. Then he would lead a diamond and ruff with the king. If West won, he could return a heart, in which case Wong would score the ♥Q and the good diamond. West also could return the spade, in which case Wong would score both remaining trumps by ruffs. If West discarded a spade, Wong would lead his last club and score the ♥Q en passant.

So discarding a spade won't work. What about ruffing with the jack? Wong would overruff with the queen and lead a diamond, ruffing with the king. If West overruffs, he is endplayed. If he doesn't overruff, another club lead sets up the en passant situation again.

So Wong chalked up a highly profitable plus 590 on the board.

Montreal World Bridge Championship Quiz

To heighten awareness of the Bridge World Championships in Montreal, Quebec, next year (Aug. 16-31), the organizers will offer a daily bridge problem with prizes for the winners during the 2001 Summer NABC.

There will be a drawing from among the names of those who answer correctly – and five will win copies of the World Championship Book from 1995 or 1996 (your choice while supplies last). Turn in your answers to the Daily Bulletin office – Algonquin Room on the Mezzanine Level at the Royal York Hotel. Check the Daily Bulletin for the list of winners.

Quiz #5 ↑ A 7 6 4 3 ♦ 7 5 4 ♣ AJ764 ♦ K Q J 10 9 2 ♥ K 5 ♦ A Q 3 2 • 2 West North East South 4♥ 4 All Pass 6♠

Solution to Quiz #4

♥ A 10 9 6 4 2 ♦ A K 5 4 10 8 3 ↑ A Q 9 6 2 ↑ 10 8 7 4 ♥ 8 5 ♥ K 7 3 ♦8732 ♦ 10 9 8 ♣ J 2 ♣ K 7 6 5 ♦ KJ3 ♥ Q J ♦ QJ64 ♣ A O 9 4

This is what Eddie Kantar, who provided the problem, had to say about Quiz #4.

Your best bet is to work with clubs, not hearts. Three club tricks will give you nine, and taking two finesses through East should give you three clubs tricks approximately 75% of the time, at the same time keeping East out of the lead for a fatal spade play through your king. The heart finesse is strictly for dreamers.

Win the $\clubsuit J$, cross to the $\clubsuit A$ and run the $\clubsuit 8$. Assuming this loses to the jack, win any red-suit return in dummy and run the \$10. If this loses to the king, ask West why he didn't bid with the ♣K J and the ♠A Q. Then ask your partner why he didn't correct 3NT to a cold 4Ψ . In other words, keep the table off balance before your partner starts in on you.

Quiz #4 winners: Nancy Sahlein, Jacob Morgan, Dave Wachsman and Anna Borvin. Please pick up your prize in the Daily Bulletin office, Algonquin Room, mezzanine level at the Royal York Hotel.

Hands across the table

By Ray Lee

Playing a Knockout Teams last Friday with Vancouver's Andrew Ross, while pleasant enough anyway, turned out to have an unexpected bonus at dinner. Well after the appetizers had been dispatched, Andrew's rather better-known brother Hugh joined us at the table, fresh from the halfway comparison in his Gand National Teams semifinal match. Seizing the menu, he quickly ordered tiger shrimps, leaned back and announced, "I have just been part of the silliest auction I have ever seen." He had our attention. "I had this hand," he continued, distributing paper napkins to those of us who had reached their third glass of wine.

♦ Q J 10 6 3 ♥ K Q 8 ♦ A Q 8 5 4 **♣ -

"Partner (Kyle Larsen) opened an 11-14 notrump with everybody vulnerable, and rightly doubled. It was reasonably obvious this was based on a long club suit. We have various agreements to cover this situation, and I decided the best way to move forward in this case was the simplest: I bid 2♥ as a transfer to spades. This, however, was followed by two passes."

The shrimp arrived, and Hugh began to dissect them with enthusiasm.

"Who was right?" I asked tentatively. "Was it supposed to be transfer in your system?"

"Oh no," he replied, spearing a grilled pepper with his fork and gesturing with it dismissively. "Kyle is always right on these things."

"Then what happened?" someone ventured.

"Fortunately the doubler balanced with 3♣, giving me another chance. I wasn't going to risk further misunderstandings, since I'd ostensibly run from 1NT doubled, so I cuebid 4♣. Of course partner corrected to 4♥, and this came back to me. I still hadn't managed to bid either of my suits."

"So you bid 4♠ now?" we prompted.

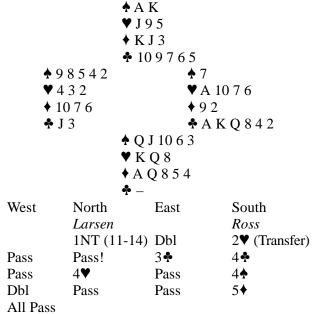

"Of course," said Hugh. "Lefty doubled this and it came back to me again."

At this dramatic juncture, there was a lengthy intermission for dessert and coffee orders. Then...

"My left-hand opponent clearly had very few high cards, so I reasoned he must be doubling on a whole pile of spades. If so 4♠ probably wasn't the right spot. I decided to try 5♠ instead. Nobody doubled this, so there I was."

Every fork at the table stopped moving – except Hugh's. Finally somebody cracked, "Well?"

"Oh," he said with a broad smile, "plus 620. This was the whole deal."

"Were you upset that you missed the slam?" I asked. "Oh no," he said. "I didn't think they'd bid a slam at the other table, and at least we had ended up with a plus instead of playing in a transfer."

The journalist in me rose to the occasion. I had to know what happened at the other table.

"Actually, that was the funniest part in some ways," Hugh admitted. "North opened a club, I think, and eventually he got to play in 3NT. That will make a lot of the time, but Peter Weichsel led his fourth best club from ace-king-queen-to-six, and our guys cashed four top clubs and the \(\Phi\)A to beat it a trick. We won 12 IMPs on the board."

We digested this in silence, along withe last bites of our meal, but I know what we were all thinking. Sometimes the simplest ways are best: bid what you've got, and lead fourth best from your longest and strongest. Goren would have been proud of them.

Smoke and mirrors

What do you do when you find yourself in a hopeless contract and you know that a minus score will be very bad? If you're Steve Weinstein, you set about figuring out a way to turn nine tricks into 10. Weinstein managed very well on this deal from the second semifinal session of the Life Master Pairs, which he won with Bobby Levin.

(1) Strong and artificial.

North led the $\frac{1}{2}$ to the queen, king and ace. Weinstein quickly assessed his dire situation. He could see two losers in diamonds, one in clubs and another in spades. With barely a pause after winning the $\frac{1}{2}$A, Weinstein led a heart to dummy's queen and played the $\frac{1}{2}$ toward his hand. Because of the strong $1$ opening, Weinstein knew South held both missing honors in spades, and he wanted South to believe the West hand held the $\frac{1}{2}$10.

South took the bait, playing the $\clubsuit Q$. South then cashed the $\bigstar K$ and continued with the $\clubsuit 10$ to dummy's jack. Continuing the charade, Weinstein called for dummy's $\spadesuit 9$.

Consider South's problem at this point. He already had one spade and one diamond in the bank, and if the A held, he would almost certainly be able to cash a club and another diamond for down two and the magic plus 200. Ducking, on the other hand, would allow West to get out for down one. The difference in matchpoints for the two scores, of course, would be significant.

So South went up with the ace and Weinstein had stolen the game. He ruffed, returned to dummy with a heart, picking up trumps, and discarded his two clubs losers on the K J. Weinstein gave up a diamond for plus 620 and nearly all the matchpoints.

Zero Tolerance

At the Barrington Bridge Club in Los Angeles, Zero Tolerance offenders have a choice: take a vacation from the club for a month or perform community service. The idea was co-owner E'Anne Conaway's, according to Alan LeBendig, the other co-owner.

If an offender opts for community service, he must call the club, show up for the game and play with whomever the club selects. There's an additional detail: "They have to make sure their partner enjoys the game," says LeBendig. "We've gotten some of the bad actors turned around, and the other players have noticed."

Bingo for Seniors

There will be free Bingo after the second session of the Senior Pairs today (approximately 6:30 p.m.) in the Alberta Room on the mezzanine level of the Royal York.

Ruffing finesse in trumps

The defense cashed their ace against his contract, but Bob Gookin felt good about his heart slam – his trumps looked good enough. He wasn't too happy when South showed out on the first round of spades, but he found the answer – a ruffing finesse in trumps.

A ruffing finesse in trumps? There's no such thing! Maybe, but Gookin tried it — and it worked. He ruffed the heart continuation and led to the trump queen and discovered he had a trump loser. Without any thought he led a club to his hand and led the ♠8. North, totally flustered by this play, followed low! He wasn't about to be trapped into playing his 10! Rack up plus 1430 for East-West.

We've checked with the Encyclopedia editor. He decided against an entry for the ruffing finesse in trumps

The Monday Daily Bulletin incorrectly reported the results of fifth through eighth place in Grand National Teams Flight A. The District 4 team of Jess and Lois Stuart, Peter and Marian Filandro, Craig Robinson and Elaine Landau tied for fifth place.

Tournament Appeals

In order to keep the bridge public informed of appeals results in a timely fashion, the NABC Daily Bulletin staff publishes writeups. Every effort is made to ensure that these reports are accurate and complete. However, before they are published in the NABC Appeals Casebook revisions may be made.

The Facts: 5♠ made six, +480 for N/S. The opening lead was the ♣A. The Director was called before the final pass. N/S agreed that there had been a hesitation before the double of 5♥. North said it had been 10 seconds and E/W believed it to be 20-30 seconds. The Director ruled that once North had passed 5♥ he had left the decision to partner and the 5♠ bid was canceled (Law 16). The contract was changed to 5♥ doubled down one, +100 for N/S.

The Appeal: N/S appealed the Director's ruling and were the only players to attend the hearing. North believed that when he passed 5♥ he had not given full consideration to his actions. Despite his partner's double he thought 5♠ was likely enough to make for it to be the correct bridge bid. N/S also believed that the quality of the defense had broken any chain of damage. The defense had been ♣A, club to the king, the two top spades and a diamond discarded on the ♥A. When all the trumps were played, West discarded diamonds to keep clubs.

The Committee Decision: North had not contended either in screening or to the Committee that he had planned a "pass and pull" auction to show either a slam try or a weaker hand than an immediate 5♠ would have shown. N/S did not state that they had any special forcing pass agreements. The Committee decided that there had been a break in tempo and since North had passed 5♥ he was committed to abide by his partner's decision and could not bid 5♠ (Law 16A). The UI from the break in tempo deprived North of his chance to be brilliant. It was noted that despite South's AK (which were 100% wasted on defense) 5♥ doubled down one was actually the par result for the hand. Since the reason for the Director's ruling was explained to N/S and the issues had been reviewed in screening, the Committee decided that the appeal lacked substantial merit and assessed an Appeal Without Merit Warning to N/S.

After-School Bridge

mittee is ready to accept applications and interview likely candidates. If you are interested in checking into the job's possibilities, contact either Charity Sack at charity@charitysack.com or Barbara Heller at hellerb@mindspring.com. Sack is in charge of business and marketing, and Heller is in charge of education and media.

Others involved in the project are Nadine Wood, District 6 member on the ACBL Board of Directors, chairman; Joan Gerard, District 3 member of the ACBL Board, vice chairman; Charlotte Blaiss of the ACBL Educational Department, ACBL background, and Aileen Osofsky, financial overseer.

The plan is to start by going after the schools that already have bridge as an activity. Many of the schools have bridge but no coordinated program.

All schoolchildren, all the way from first grade through seniors in high school, are the target of this program. The benefits for the youngsters are many – greater conceptual focus, stronger communication, higher confidence, social skills development – and of course just plain fun.

The task of the new director will be to devise a program that will be accepted at schools. It will have to be sound and measurable as well as fun. The director also will be responsible for interesting major educational groups in funding future activities. He or she will be expected to set up a web site for the project.

The plan is excellent for the youngsters – it is an established fact that youngsters who take part in after-school activities show more interest in their studies and perform better. But that's not the end of the pluses – historically children who take up bridge talk it up at home, and quite often the parents get interested as well. Then there's the value of the time and interest the boys and girls will take in bridge. When they're learning or playing bridge, they are not getting into trouble and they're not watching television incessantly. This will lessen the worries of parents who have to work and can't be there for their children during the afternoon.

Sack observed, "By implementing educationally sound bridge teaching strategies, we can light a fire under youth and their adult instructors. Playing the game will remain vital to these students as they mature, and they will pass on their love of the game to generations to come."

The size of the market is huge. According to Heller, there are almost 50 million youngsters in North American public schools. This is how she sees the timetable working:

"Development will take 18-24 months. Then, 12 months after the program is launched, we expect to increase ACBL membership by 5,000. By the end of the fifth year we expect the gain in membership to be about 15,000."

No question about it – after-school bridge is an ambitious project. That's why the committee has decided that it's not a job for volunteers. They want a person who will devote all his or her working hours to developing the program and making it work.

New Life Masters

SANDRA STRAUS of Boulder CO placed second in Bracket 12 of the Bluejays Knockouts, and that earned her enough points to become a Life Master. Her partner was Maud Greer, and her teammates were Vince Bates and Anne Vincent, all of Boulder.

ANN HINCHCLIFF of Pinehurst NC made the grade in the Welcome To Toronto Knockout Teams. She played with Nancy Shannon, and her teammates were William and Roberta Mulveney.

CAROL GUSS is our first new Life Master at this tournament to make the grade in a pair event. She won a section top, and that was enough to put her over the top. She extends her thanks to all her many understanding partners through the years, but the big hug went to Gary Zlot, her partner when she earned her gold card.

Bridge Black Belts star in comic strip

Did you happen to notice the "Betty" comic strip in the Monday and Tuesday Globe and Mail?

On Monday there are drawings of three older women relaxing. In the fourth slot, a couple are going home from a visit to the three aunts. The man says, "That was nice. I think they appreciated our visiting." But his wife is not so sure: "Bub, those old gals are bridge players – trust me, you have no way of knowing what they're thinking."

The theme was carried through on Tuesday. The man says, "You mean to tell me those sweet, smiling old aunts hated us for visiting?"

"No – what I'm saying is that you can't tell what they think about."

"Because they're bridge players?"

"Yes, because they're bridge players. Bridge is kung-fu for the mind and those sweet smiling old aunts are Black Belts."

Meckwell

Matt has been playing what he describes as "kitchen bridge" since he was 8 years old. He played in his first tournament at age 12. "I love playing," says Matt, "especially with my dad."

The two Meckstroth youngsters live in Gainesville FL. Rob is preparing to enter the University of Florida to study business and psychology. "Dad really wants me to get through college," Rob says, "because he dropped out of school to play bridge."

Sara, who lives in Naperville IL, will be a high school senior this fall. She doesn't play bridge, but has promised her father she will have a game with him before she graduates. "I've got a year to fulfill that promise," she says.

In her earlier years, Sara remembers, she used to draw pictures on the backs of the reams of paper always around the house – notes on the intricate Rodwell-Meckstroth Precision system which has helped the pair to dozens of world and North American championships. They will represent the U.S. as part of the Nick Nickell team in the Bermuda Bowl this fall.

The Meckstroth youngsters also recall how busy the fax machine was at their home in days past as Rodwell sent more and more notes to his partner – modifications in the system. "The fax machine was going twenty-four, seven," says Matt.

Rob recalls a family vacation in Michigan recently when he and his dad played at a bridge club and racked up a 68.1% game. "We thought we had won," Rob says, "but Matt and the director had 73.67%."

Matt says he has not started reading his dad's new book – Win the Bermuda Bowl with Me, written with Marc Smith – but Rob has, and he gives it a good review. "A lot of bridge books are boring," Rob says, "but this one is good."

Jackie Matthews, the director in charge of caddies at the NABCs, says all three youngsters are excellent. "The boys are absolutely great," she says. "They're here first thing every day."

Incidentally, Matt and his father helped their team win the knockout event in Indianapolis. "I'm now qualified for the Blue Ribbons Pairs," Matt says proudly, "if I ever find someone to play with." Who knows, perhaps Dad will be available.

A stopper? Not quite!

Some years ago we published a hand played in 3NT by Bobby Gookin. He felt that his 10-small constituted a stopper even though the dummy was void in the suit.

One of the players here had a slightly better stopper, but he too now sees the folly of his ways. The auction went like this:

WestNorthEastSouth1NT(1)Dbl $3 \spadesuit$ 3NT $4 \spadesuit$ 4NTAll Pass

The 3NT bidder had only a doubleton 10 in spades, and his partner raised to 4NT on a singleton. It didn't work – the opponents led spades.

Eisenstein

the tournament was even better than the usual NABC. I stayed in Boston an extra day, however, to accompany Samantha for a bone scan at Newton Hospital.

A week after I returned home to Boca Raton FL, I received a phone call from my ex-wife. The results indicated a tumor, nearly six inches long, in my daughter's right tibia. A few days later I returned to New York to meet my daughter and her mom. Treatment began at Memorial Sloan Kettering in January of 2000. In April, the tumor was removed from my daughter's leg in a 12-hour operation and an allegraft was inserted.

In September 2000 she completed 10 months of high-dose chemotherapy and in April of 2001 she began to walk with the use of one crutch. In May she graduated with honors from Brandeis, one year late, and in June she progressed to walking with a cane.

Unfortunately, in April we were faced with a new challenge. One day after her 23rd birthday, it was discovered that Samantha had contracted myelodysplasia as a result of the chemotherapy used to treat Ewing's sarcoma, the original bone cancer. Now we are facing a bone marrow transplant to save her life.

After a few months of searching we located a "perfect" match, an unrelated/unknown donor. Unfortunately, during the last few weeks, Samantha's condition has progressed to where we now must go through chemotherapy again to try to put her condition into remission. If all goes well, the transplant will be done in mid- to late August.

Obviously, as a result of all this my life has changed. After attending nearly every NABC since 1981 and playing-teaching bridge in Florida and New York full time, I have missed all the NABCs (except for Birmingham) since Boston 1999.

I have played in a total of four or five regionals since then, and I used to play 20 or more a year. The reception I get when I see my bridge-playing friends, and particularly the directors and staff, has been wonderful. They always ask about my daughter, and they always tell me how much they are praying for us. This helps a great deal.

If all goes well we are facing a difficult year of treatment. The total cost of treatment and expenses will probably approach $1 million before this ordeal is over. Insurance covers a great deal of it, but friends have planned a number of fund-raising and bridge-playing events to help. We have set up a non-profit, tax-exempt/tax-deductible fund. It is the Bridge has been such an important part of my life for nearly 30 years. My younger daughter Lindsay, 16, is a regular fixture at regionals and NABCs, and I look forward to the day when I can once again become a regular on the bridge scene.

If you have questions, my cell phone number is (561) 945-5944. My local address while we are in the New York area is 12 Union Road, Parsippany NJ. 07054. My e-mail address is glenneis@aol.com

IMP Pairs scoring change

For the first time since the fivir Pairs began in 1987, the two-day national event will be scored across the field, IMPing each score against each other score.

That will make for some very large scores - pluses and minuses. For example, if you and your partner conspire to crash your ace and king of trumps together on defense against a vulnerable slam and declarer makes it, you can expect the slam swing to be repeated over and over for a huge minus. The maximum swing per comparison, however, will be 17 IMPs.

Before this year, individual scores were obtained by comparing them to a datum, a number representing "average" on the board after high and low scores are thrown out. With the change in scoring this year, the event will be scored the same way as the Cavendish Invitational Pairs.

The IMP Pairs begins Thursday with two qualifying sessions. The two final sessions will be Friday.

Another good day

The 2001 Summer NABC added another 1816.5 tables on Tuesday to climb to 9347 with five days of play left. An average of only 1330 tables per day is all that is needed to top 16,000 tables. The last Toronto NABC, in the summer of 1992, finished with 16,680 tables.

Found money

The last time the Summer NABC was in Toronto was in 1992. Bruce Reeve, who represents Distirct 7 on the ACBL Board of Directors, tells an interesting story from that tournament.

A friend, Greg Gault of Raleigh NC, returned home from the Toronto NABC with about $9 in Canadian money. He went to his bank to try to turn the bills into U.S. currency, but he discovered that it would hardly be worth his while after a long wait and a fee.

His solution? He put the cash into an envelope, addressed it to "Postal Person, Toronto, Canada" and put it into the mail. Along with the cash was this note: "Whoever opens this letter, take this money and go out to lunch on a crazy American."

Someone in Toronto may still be telling that story.

Different viewpoints

At one table in a Spingold match, the opening bidder said 1♥ and played it there, making plus 80. At the other table they got to 6NT doubled. This went down seven for minus 2000. Quite a difference in evaluation here.

Deal of the Day – Canadian trickery

We have all read about deceptive plays in books, but it still takes a player in top form to grasp the nettle when the opportunity arises at the table. Irving Litvack of Toronto ON found a neat play to defeat a lowly partscore in his team's Spingold Round 2 match today.

This was the full deal:

Litvack led the \mathbf{AQ} , covered by the king and ace, and Bill Tucker shifted to the ♥8. Correctly discerning the heart position, declarer rose with the ace to start trumps. When a low diamond was led toward dummy, though, Litvack followed with the queen!

Who can blame declarer for winning the ace and finessing the 9 on the way back? Litvack grabbed the trick with the ♦10, cashed his major suit winners, and dealt his partner a heart ruff. East duly cashed the A to set the contract by a trick. North-South minus 100.
