Kearse, Rubens, Harkavy and Maier in Hall

Amalya Kearse

Jacobs lead Reisinger

The team captained by George Jacobs continues to lead the Reisinger Board-a-Match Teams as 10 teams head into today's two final sessions.

Both final sessions will be shown on vu-graph – Galeries 4-6 (second floor) from 1-5 p.m. and 7 p.m.-midnight. Barry Rigal, chief commentator, will be in charge – with assists from Chris Compton, Howard Weinstein, Bart Bramley and Larry Cohen.

The ACBL Bridge Hall of Fame added four new members yesterday.

Amalya Kearse, a federal judge, and Jeff Rubens, editor of The Bridge World, will share the Blackwood Award at the induction ceremonies which will take place in New York next summer. The Blackwood Award is given for outstanding contributions to bridge outside expertise at the table. Both Kearse and Rubens, both of whom hail from New York City, easily qualify.

Harry Harkavy of Miami Beach, originally of New York, and Merwyn "Jimmy" Maier of New York City are co-winners of the Von Zedtwitz Award. This is given to players who made their mark as players or in other key areas of bridge. Both Harkavy and Maier were outstanding players in days gone by.

The Hall of Fame Committee made these announcements yesterday. Other honorees will be named later. All will be inducted during the New York North American Championships.

Amalya Kearse

Amalya Kearse (born 1937) of New York City, World Bridge Federation World Life Master and the first women to sit on the Federal Appeals court in Manhattan, is the co-recipient of the Blackwood Award.

Kearse, now a senior judge on the United States Court of Appeals, is an attorney and former partner in the Wall Street firm of Hughes, Hubbard and Reed. She took a pay cut — "about 75%," she says — to become a circuit judge.

She has no regrets about accepting the job. Most of her work is research and writing and "I like judging."

For years, she juggled her work load with bridge. At the 1986 world championships in Miami Beach, she shipped crates of briefs to her hotel. She played in the Mixed Pairs with Edgar Kaplan ("I don't think we qualified") and had five days off before the Women's Pairs began. She spent the five Continued on page 6

Siebert team leads Swiss

The Siebert brothers are playing together again, and they're playing well apparently. David and Allan with teammates Greg Hinze and Nagy Kamel are leading the field as 22 qualifiers head into today's two-session final of the North American Swiss Teams.

They finished the day yesterday with a 10.5 Victory Point lead over runners-up Jade Barrett, Diana Marquardt, Evan Bailey, Vera Petty, Roman Smolski and Edward Barlow. After the carryover formula is imposed, that probably will mean the

Andrew and Robert Levin Levin shoots past 25,000-point mark

Going over 25,000 masterpoints was noteworthy to Robert Levin, but the thrill was in how he got the last necessary points. He played with Paul Soloway in the Blue Ribbon Pairs and came in fifth.

Mitchell tops 15,000

Jacqui Mitchell, a five-time world women's champion and a recent addition to the Bridge Hall of Fame, reached the 15,000-masterpoint mark when her team placed fourth in the Women's Board-a-Match Teams earlier this week.

Mitchell won the Venice Cup in 1976 and 1978, the World Olympiad Women's Teams in 1980 and 1984 and the World Women's Pairs in 1986. She is already an ACBL Grand Life Master.

She has won 14 North American championships and numerous regional titles. She was New Continued on page 5  "I've been playing tournament bridge for 30 years, and this was the very first time I ever played with Paul. I have never even played on a team with him. Think of all the times we've been at the same table, but only as opponents. I was thrilled to finally have the opportunity to be his partner."

We found out about Levin's achievement in a most different way. His son Andrew, 13, came wandering into the Daily Bulletin office and said, "I saw in the Bulletin this morning that two players went over 15,000 points. What about a player who went over 25,000?" We guessed who right away. Andrew doesn't play bridge, but he's a good poker player and a fine student, according to his father.

It's a big month for the Levin family. His wife Jill won the Venice Cup world championship and Schroeder led the  $\checkmark J!$  Declarer won the ace and drew four rounds of trumps. Next he led a heart that lost to the queen (Ernst did NOT play the 10). When Ernst led the  $\clubsuit Q$  the defense collected two quick club tricks. Schroeder led a third round of clubs, forcing declarer to ruff with his last trump as he pitched the  $\bigstar J$  from dummy.

Absolutely sure that South had the  $\checkmark 10$  because of the opening lead, declarer led a heart and called for the 9. He couldn't believe his eyes when he saw Ernst produce the 10. Suddenly he was down one. Even worse – he saw he could have made his contract by playing for a 3-3 heart split or by taking the diamond finesse. He good-naturedly congratulated Schroeder for his imaginative opening lead.

After getting a discouraging signal on the Kopening lead, East switched to the K. When this held he led his other diamond to the jack, queen and ace. Baze now ran his trumps, keeping the A-Q-8 in dummy. On the last trump East had to find a discard from VK-9-7 and A. If he shed a club, declarer could win the Q and take the winning heart finesse. But if he pitched a heart, then West could guard that suit. The only problem: West has to discard from VJ-10-5 and Q. If he throws a heart, that suit comes home. If he throws the diamond, declarer's 6 becomes high and takes the last trick. All roads at this point lead to 10 tricks.

No piano for Pennario, but he plays bridge

Leonard Pennario can still play bridge even if he can no longer play the piano because of Parkinson's Disease. The former world-famous concert pianist won the Wednesday-Thursday Bracketed Knockout Teams. His teammates were LuAnn Leonard, William Leonard of Rancho Mirage CA and Lee Millard of Los Angeles. Pennario used to try to arrange his concerts in areas near North American championships so that he could have a chance to play his favorite game against the best. Playing bridge was always a somewhat strange experience for Pennario – throughout play his mind was playing concerto music.

Transfer squeeze defense

By Peter Weichsel

Board 26 of the second semifinal of the Blue Ribbon Pairs may have provided some players with the opportunity to make a fine defensive play with the right circumstances.

One of my theories is to not open the bidding with a hand that could be better described by subsequent bidding, such as Michaels or the Unusual Notrump.

If South adhered to that theory he or she might end up defending  $3 \bigstar$  on a variety of auctions that start with  $1 \bigstar$  by West and  $2 \bigstar$  by North.

After the defense started with the A and K, followed by a third diamond that is ruffed, the defense is in a bit of trouble. If South passively exits with a spade, it isn't too difficult for declarer to work out where the A is. South certainly would return a club to get another ruff. Therefore declarer can win the 10 and lead the K, transferring the club menace to North. Then he could drive out the A and eventually squeeze North in hearts and clubs.

The only hope for the defense is for South to return a club anyway and hope declarer believes the A is on his left. That way he can play for a straightforward squeeze.

This play is not that farfetched if the bidding suggests that your partner is 0-5-5-3.

Competitors from 27 countries here

Players from at least 27 countries are here for the Fall NABC. North American tournaments have truly become international.

We have huge delegations from Bermuda and Japan. Larger numbers also are present from Sweden, Turkey, England and Italy.

Here are the countries:

ACBL – United States, Canada, Mexico and Bermuda.

Europe – Sweden, Denmark, Norway, Italy, England, France, Poland, Netherlands, Northern Ireland, Scotland and Finland.

Central America – Netherlands Antilles, Guatemala, Venezuela and Jamaica.

The first four cards Shahaf saw were the  $\checkmark A$ , the  $\diamond 2$ , the  $\diamond J$  and the  $\checkmark 4$ . When the director arrived, he explained that he knew how to play the hand. From the order of the cards, he worked out that his predecessor had won the opening lead with the  $\checkmark A$ , led a spade to the ace, finessed the  $\diamond J$  on the way back, losing to the queen, and South had cashed a top heart.

After studying the board for a short time, the director instructed the players to shuffle and redeal the board.

The incident was reported to the Daily Bulletin by Bob Hamman.

Just sit there?

When Ralph Hirshberg was reprimanded for giving hints to declarer as dummy, he was aghast. "What am I supposed to do when I'm dummy — just sit there?"

Far East – Japan, Indonesia and South Korea. Near East – Israel and Turkey. Africa – Egypt South Pacific – Australia and New Zealand.

Renato Robledo of Italy got an opening lead of a club, covered by the jack and king and won with the ace. Robledo led a heart to the jack and queen, and South shifted to a diamond. North ducked to East's queen. Declarer called for the $9, covered by the 10 and won with the queen.

Declarer cashed the  $\clubsuit$ 7 and led another heart, the 10 losing to the king. South switched to a spade, but it was too late. Declarer won his ace, crossed to the  $\checkmark$ A and cashed the  $\blacklozenge$ 7, the  $\clubsuit$ 8 and the  $\blacklozenge$ A.

Finding the right lead

When you're looking for the right lead against 3NT, you begin by eliminating suits. When you're down to only one suit, you must then select the right card.

Hamish Bennett (West) considered his opening lead in a Swiss Teams match and eliminated spades because North had bid and re-bid the suit. He rejected hearts because "declarer had to be ready for a heart lead." That left the minors and Bennett wasn't happy with clubs – partner would need too much in the suit. Left with diamonds, Bennett considered whether to lead the jack or the 7. Deciding the  $\bigstar J$ lead might complicate the defense, Bennett tabled the  $\bigstar 7$ .

Members of the caddy corps gather around Caddymaster Jackie Matthews to plan their last day on the job here at the NABC in New Orleans. About 60 caddies – high school students, college students, former caddies and 86-year-old Clinton Aiken – have been working here the past 10 days. Most wear a red and white cap with "caddy" written on it while others brought their "Jackie 4-ever" t-shirts from the Long Beach NABC this past summer.

Appreciating a 6-6 hand

West led the  $\forall J$  and Jackson won her ace. She led the  $\blacklozenge 9$ , ducked around to East's jack. East cashed the  $\forall K Q$ , as Jackson pitched a diamond from dummy. (Now East should cash the  $\blacklozenge A$  and exit with a club. Jackson has no way to reach her hand and must lose a diamond on the end.)

East, however, got greedy and exited with a club. Jackson saw her chance and ran with it. If East's shape was 2-4-4-3, Jackson could cash her clubs and exit with a spade. East would have to lead into the diamond tenace.

That's how it worked out and Jackson was soon scoring up plus 400 – and a 10-IMP gain.

New Life Masters

West (Bruce Noda) won his  $\bigstar K$  and returned the  $\bigstar 4$  to the 10 and jack. Bennett cashed the  $\bigstar A$ , as declarer pitched a club from dummy. West followed with the  $\bigstar 3$  and declarer, the  $\bigstar Q$ .

Now Bennett shifted to a club, declarer finessed and Noda won his king and cashed two more diamonds. The defense cashed the A for down three and plus 150.

It was a 5-IMP gain since  $4 \bigstar$  went down one at the other table.

Bidding out your distribution

The neophyte player, competing in his first duplicate, opened his first hand with four clubs. When this was doubled he bid four diamonds. This too was doubled, so he bid four hearts. Once again there was a double, but the rookie was ready — "One spade." When the director was called, he asked the newcomer what was going on.

"I'm bidding my distribution, just as I was taught. I have four clubs, four diamonds, four hearts and one spade." Frank J. Rodman Jr. of Berlin MD had a tough time getting that last seven-tenths of a point, but he finally got it in a bracketed knockout and now he's a full-fledged Life Master. His partner was his wife Susan, and their teammates were Penny and Wallace Fleetwood of Matairie LA.

Dale Shepherd of Warsaw IN needed 30 points when he arrived in New Orleans. He won 21 points in earlier days and then got the rest in bracketed knockouts. His teammates were Dan and Donna Simon of South Bend IN and Judy Castillo of Warsaw IN.

Susan Ninyo of San Diego needed 7.5 points. She finished second in the Stratified Open Pairs, and that was worth 7.97, so now she's a Life Master. She was partnered by her husband Avram.

The little more, and how much it is . . . By Barry Rigal

Our to-be-unnamed South reached 4 after a relay auction in which East had shown values in the red suits. A low diamond to the king and ace was followed by the  $\diamond Q$  and the  $\diamond 9$  shift to the ace. Now declarer had a nice safety play available. He cashed one trump only, then led the &K. East could ruff, but declarer could regain the lead and draw the last trump before pitching dummy's last heart on the ♣Q.

So why should declarer be embarrassed? He spotted the play at the table after all.

Well, his mistake was at trick one. He should duck the diamond in dummy — his play of the king gave East the chance to win the ace and underlead in diamonds for the heart shift. That would give the defense a tempo in setting up a heart and the contract could no longer be made.

(P.S. after the deal was over, North told me they had just modified their system to switch the major suit positives so that the strong hand would be declarer. Maybe they'll switch back after this deal!)

Jacobs (Ralph Katz, Alfredo Versace-Lorenzo Lauria and Norberto Bocchi-Giorgio Duboin) posted a 37.42 score – that includes a 2.92 carryover, plus scores of 18.50 (out of a possible 27) in the afternoon session and 16 (out of 30) in the evening session.

Only 1.29 behind Jacobs are Steve Zolotow-Harold Lilie and Bill Eisenberg-Shawn Quinn, who posted a score of 36.13.

Another .46 behind Zolotow are Roy Welland-Bjorn Fallenius, Zia Mahmood-Michael Rosenberg and Adam Zmudzinski-Cezary Balicki with 35.67.

The rest of the 10-table final field is bunched fairly closely - Jacobs, the leader, has a score of 37.42 while #10 Cayne (Jimmy Cayne-Dana De Falco, Michael Seamon-Geir Helgemo and Robert Levin-Steve Weinstein) has 30.42.

A new player?

Diana Marquardt joined the ACBL only nine months ago, but she came to New Orleans with five Blue Ribbon qualifications and 130 masterpoints. The following hand, played with Jade Barrett in the Morning Knockouts, is an indication of why she has been doing so well.

They were playing structured weak two-bids, so Marquardt passed as opening bidding. Barrett opened a 14-17 notrump, and Marquardt of course transferred. After Barrett bid the obligatory  $2 \mathbf{v}$ , Marquardt leaped to 4. to show her club shortness. Barrett cuebid diamonds, and Marquardt completed her picture by cuebidding her  $\blacklozenge K$ .

That was enough for Barrett. His partner had shown shortness in his weak suit, long hearts and a diamond control. She also had shown slam interest. He leaped to the slam. Not surprisingly they stopped at game at the other table, so Marquardt gained 11 IMPs for her team. They went to win the match by 2, then continued on their merry way to a triumph in the event.

A tough ruling?

Not all the directors at Harry Goldwater's tournaments in New York were top grade. One time one of the directors called for help. The chief director hurried over to the table and the director who called for help looked harried. "I've got a tough one," he whispered - "a lead out of turn."

The Reisinger Board-a-Match Teams is a sixsession event scored by board-a-match. It is considered one of the most grueling events on the ACBL calendar.

An American panelist

At the 1968 Summer NABC in Minneapolis, new players were treated to a post-game panel show featuring Alfred Sheinwold, Alan Truscott and Tannah Hirsch.

After listening to their British accents of varying degree, one of the newcomers wanted to know how many points he needed before he got an American panelist.

like orange or green tangerines but is juicier and doesn't have seeds - were a big hit, as were the baked potatoes. "One of our workers came up to me and said some guy took four of those huge potatoes and was sitting there eating them," Federico said. "My reaction was: 'If he's that hungry, let him eat them'. I don't mind that, but I do mind seeing food go to waste."

The beignets didn't go to waste, nor did the king cakes, mini muffelettas or last night's red beans and rice.

Federico had special praise for the members of the Louisiana Bridge Association and for the chairpersons of the three main desks: Dick and Ellie Brammell and Vicki Willis, Registration and Information; John and Doris Liukkonen, Partnership, and Nonie Leavitt and Bob Olsen, Intermediate/Newcomer.

"They've all done a great job," said Federico.

The Bridge Trip By Gary King

Gary King of Houston is a Silver Life Master who writes a column for 299er players in the Scorecard, the District 16 publication.

Over the years I have spent time talking with quite literally hundreds, if not thousands, of students about bridge. I talk with prospective players who are considering beginning lessons and with rabid duplicate addicts who are consumed with the game.

What strikes me as most interesting is how many things are reflected in this game that we play and love so much. In numerous ways, this game is like other sports and even like life itself.

Several years ago I received a telephone call from a previous student. She and her partner had a dispute about a particular hand and called so that I could mediate.

We discussed the auction and the hand (she was a GOOD student because she had the auction and complete hand written out including all passes, vulnerability, dealer and every hand which remarkably had 13 cards).

After a few minutes of discussion she sighed and with a little frustration said, "Do you ever think I will get this game?"

How would you answer that question? Have you ever felt that way?

My answer was very straightforward. I replied, "You are thinking about this game all wrong!"

There is no Utopia. There is no plateau at which you arrive and realize that you know everything that you need to know. There is no heavenlylike existence where you never make mistakes and can play with little or no effort.

You must realize — and learn — that the enjoyment of this game is the trip. Learn to enjoy your travels along the path to becoming an accomplished player. Enjoy the scenery, the people and the experience.

It is the trip that is the fun. Do not be like the vacationer who is in such a hurry to get to the final destination that he views the Grand Canyon from the car while passing by.

Stop and take in the enjoyment and pleasure that this game has to offer. Enjoy the game, enjoy the people, enjoy making good decisions, enjoy your wins and enjoy the wins of others.

Bridge is also an escape for many players. During a three-hour duplicate game all the stresses of life and everyday living can be forgotten. I have seen players with serious health problems able to take a break from concerns and play for a few hours. What a stress reliever.

I have seen people who are meek and mildmannered in everyday life get to live somewhat vicariously at the bridge table playing aggressively and taking risks that they are not allowed to take in day-to-day life.

I am also fascinated at how much this game of bridge is similar to other sporting or competitive activities. For example, in many ways this game is like golf. Good golfers spend time doing two main things. First: when they want to work on their skills, they drive to a practice range and spend an hour or more working with one or two shots in an effort to hone their skills. Second: when they go to a course and play 18 holes, they PLAY the game. The course is not the place to practice your skills. The course is the place to try to use the skills you have to the best of your ability. These are two different activities, which relate to two different purposes and two different mindsets. Bridge should be approached much the same way. There is a time and place for you (or you and partner) to work on your game and try to develop and perfect skills. This is often alone with a book or across the table from one another with yellow pad and a No. 2 pencil.

There is also a time to play the game. This is usually at the bridge club or local tournament. This is where you should use the skills you have and focus on getting the best results possible.

If you recognize areas that need work (in your own game or in your partnership), make a brief note and discuss it later. During the play is generally not the time.

At the very least, wait until the round is over and you have stepped away from the table.

Try to locate a mentor. A mentor should be a player with greater experience and one to whom you have at least regular access (in person, by phone or email). Use the mentor not to teach you but to help you and partner work out the root cause of problems in your bidding and play. With the root cause identified, you can then work on those skills on your own.

Most players are willing to act as a mentor if approached the right way, but you must also do your part. I have had players come to me and begin: "I had some spade and hearts, not sure how many of each, and I really do not remember the auction but I think someone bid diamonds. What should I lead?"

You have got to be kidding. Bring a hand with the auction clearly written out (which players were passed hands?), the vulnerability and the complete hand ( $-\Psi-\Phi-\Phi$  in order). Check to make sure you have all 13 cards. If you want good advice, bring a good setup.

If you think about this game for a minute, it is beautiful in its simplicity. The laws of the game do not dictate how you and partner communicate. At any given time, the methods you choose to use are totally up to you. You can use whatever tools you think are in your best interest. It is this flexibility of design that keeps a player continuously striving to improve. It is also this simplicity that keeps providing greater and greater enjoyment from the play.

In conclusion, my advice to the advancing player at any level is to spend time working on your game and working with partner. The rate at which you expend effort in this regard is up to you and the time you can devote. Also spend time playing the game and enjoying it.

Do not mix the two activities, and your results and attitude will improve. Let me hear from you.

also became a World Grand Master. Earlier this year Robert and Jill were on the winning Mixed Team in the European Championships in Menton, France.

Levin became the youngest player ever to win the Bermuda Bowl in 1981 when he was only 24. Two of his teammates also were in their mid-twenties – Eric Rodwell and Jeff Meckstroth. Levin also played in the Bermuda Bowl in 1993. His accomplishments in North American championships are phenomenal. He has won every major team and every major pair championship at least once. He added the last pair event last year when he won the IMP Pairs.

Barrett team has about a 5 VP lead going into the final.

The field is quite bunched after the top two, with six teams finishing less than 4 VPs apart. In third place were Peggy Kaplan, Dick Bruno, Hideki Takano and Tadashi Teramoto. Other high leaders in their order of finish were captained by Curtis Cheek, Chuck Said, Hansa Narasimhan, Mark Gordon and Justin Lall.

Mitchell

York Player of the Year in 1958, her second year of tournament play.

Mitchell is well known for her "bridge uniform" – jeans and a sweat shirt – and for her habit of reading or knitting while she's dummy. "Initially, it (reading or knitting) came from when I quit smoking," said Mitchell. "It really comes from when you're playing and you're rooting very hard for your partner to go right. It eases the strain when they don't.

"I can tell you what I've been reading," she added. "I can also tell you when or where they went wrong."

days reading briefs, shipped the briefs back to New York "and went to play in the Women's Pairs."

Kearse and Jacqui Mitchell won the event and Kearse went back to New York and the bench.

She's completing her 25th year on the bench and recently became a senior judge - judges must be 65 to be considered for a senior judgeship, and Kearse is 66.

Being a senior judge reduces her case load only half of a full load. "That means I work about eight months."

That also means that "I have not brought any work with me at all to the last two NABCs."

Going to the gym, working out, playing bridge - how has it worked out? "It's very nice," Kearse says with a note of surprise.

Kearse grew up in New Jersey and was taught to play bridge by her parents while in high school. She graduated from Wellesley College and the University of Michigan School of Law where she was editor of Law Review and where one of her professors called her "the best student, male or female, to come down the pike."

She took up duplicate while in law school and, after graduating from law school and moving to New York, served the Greater New York Bridge Association as counsel to the Board 1970-79, Board member 1966-75, Conduct and Ethics Committee counsel 1970-73 and Ethics Committee chairman 1973-79.

She served the ACBL as a member of the Board of Governors 1970-76, member of the ACBL Appeals Committee 1971-75 and member of the ACBL Laws Commission since 1975.

Kearse was editor of the 3rd edition of The Official Encyclopedia of Bridge and is the author of Bridge Conventions Complete and Bridge at Your Fingertips. She was co-translator of Championship Bridge, Bridge a la Une and Bridge Analysis with José le Dentu.

Kearse was named "Bridge Personality of the Year" in 1980 by the International Bridge Press Association. She has won five North American championships and seven ABA national championships.

Jeff Rubens

Jeff Rubens is one of the few who has brought about major changes in bridge. The advocacy of the Swiss Teams concept in The Bridge Journal, which he co-founded, led to experimental games until Swiss Teams became a major force in tournament bridge.

He and Larry Rosler codified standard bidding methods, which led not only to Bridge World Standard but also paved the way for formal descriptions of Standard American and other systems. His Bridge World editorials have resulted in a more understandable presentation of the Laws, more interest in how the appeals system works and indepth discussions of multi-faceted problems.

In 1966 Edgar Kaplan bought the Bridge World, and he asked Rubens to work with him, "I've thoroughly enjoyed this work all through the years," said Rubens.

The Bridge World already had a Master Solvers Club when Rubens came aboard, but the randomness of the answers bothered Rubens. He felt that a relatively normal and simple network was necessary to make the experts' comments meaningful. He culled ideas from the panelists and put together a very basic Bridge World Standard. Later he polled experts more thoroughly, and the real Bridge World Standard was born.

Rubens also has contributed much to the terminology of bridge - terms like "advance" were his idea. He also is the author of several popular bidding methods.

Yes, Rubens definitely is an idea man, but he was a tough bridge player as well. It started while he was in Cornell where he formed a team with Ronnie Blau as his partner plus Walter May and Dick Lesser. Later on he had a powerful partnership with Bob Mosher, a tremendous player who fell out of the limelight when he took positions in California and Mexico. "It was a great partnership," said Rubens. "Bob had flair and I was careful. We'd win about one-third of the time and come in second about a third of the time. The rest of the time we were nowhere.

"It was altogether different from playing with Ronnie Blau. Blau was very careful, just like me. That way we never came in last in pair games, but we never came in first either. But we were great in board-a-match."

Rubens won several North American championships in the Sixties and Seventies, including the Spingold and the International Team Trials. He represented the United States in the 1973 Bermuda Bowl in partnership with B. Jay Becker.

Rubens still has a very competitive spirit, but he doesn't play bridge. He does crosswords and solves puzzles, but he doesn't want to sit down at a bridge table and not play well. Since he retired after 30 years as a professor of math and computer science at Pace University, he has focused on editing and writing. He has written a book - not about bridge - and he intends to write more. He also had done a good deal of free-lance writing.

And he spends a lot of time with his children. "I did a lot of coaching when they were growing up, and I'm still very much involved with them."

Harry Harkavy

Harry Harkavy (1915-1965) of Miami Beach was a native New Yorker and bridge club manager who gained national renown as a player. He was considered one of the world's greatest at declarer play and a brilliant, though unorthodox, bidder.

Harkavy won the Master Mixed Teams in 1952, 1953, 1955 and 1957; Chicago (now the Reisinger) 1952; Vanderbilt 1963; Spingold 1956 and 1963.

He was a member of the great Florida teams in the Sixties — the teams of Al Roth, Edith Freilich

Maier was second in the Chicago (now the Reisinger) in 1934; Vanderbilt in 1935 and 1941; Master Individual in 1936; and Spingold in 1936 and 1941.

Was it a psych?

By Henry Francis

Back in my early duplicate days, I picked up this great hand:

- ▼ AKQJ1097532
- ◆ AK7

John, my partner, opened the bidding with one heart! I had told him several times that he was psyching too often, that I was beginning to be able to read his psychs. I decided to teach him a lesson.

RHO bid 1♠ and I raised to 2♥! LHO bid 2♠, John passed, and RHO jumped to 4. I thought for quite a while as John made all kinds of faces. Finally I bid 5♥. LHO tried 5♠, and John passed disgustedly while sort of slamming his cards on the table. Once again I thought for a while and then bid  $6 \mathbf{V}$ . The opponents of course doubled and John scowled.

Don't forget - John was going to play this hand - he bid hearts first. After the opening lead, I spread my hand and John looked at me. "You son of a gun," he said.

Of course I had broken the rules by hesitating when I certainly did not have a problem. I called the director, explained why I did what I did, and suggested that the opponents be allowed to take back their double. The director couldn't help it - she just laughed. After she got herself under control, she withdrew the double. And John stopped psyching.

It was natural that Rubens became interested in cards – both his parents loved to play. Lennie, his mother, and Moe, his father, loved poker, gin rummy and bridge. Moe also was a big pinochle fan. Rubens learned pinochle first, but once he tried bridge, he was hooked.

He learned that there was a Bridge World by winning a contest while a student at Cornell. The prize was a year's subscription to The Bridge World. He started writing bridge articles at about this time. Daily Bulletin Editor Henry Francis remembers receiving a few excellent articles for the New England Bridge Bulletin at that time.

In the middle Sixties, Jeff and Paul Heitner decided to try to change a few things by starting up their own magazine, the Bridge Journal. The magazine became a forum for ideas, some of which were implemented.

Merwyn D. "Jimmy" Maier (1909-1942) of New York City was a member of the Four Aces from 1937 until 1942. He was a leading player of the pre-World War II era, as evidenced by his record: seven major titles in a four-year span.

He won the Vanderbilt in 1937 and 1938; the Spingold in 1938 and 1939; the Master Individual in 1939; Men's Pairs 1940 and Life Master Pairs in 1941.
