TDs from Texas

(Editor's note: John Smalley was scheduled to be here in Dallas, but is under the weather and unable to attend.)

People begin tournament directing for many different reasons. For Beaumont resident John Smalley, that reason was economy. During the mid-Eighties Smalley was president of Unit 201, located in the southeast corner of the state along the Louisiana border and the Gulf of Mexico. As any good unit officer would do, he was trying to save his local organization some money.

"Our sectional tournaments were getting more expensive, and part of that expense was the tournament director we had to pay to run our tournaments," he said.

So Smalley

asked the great John "Spider" Harris (now deceased), a national TD who lived in Houston, how they could trim costs. Harris suggested that they persuade a local person to become a tournament director, and soon thereafter, Smalley volunteered himself and began training.

Smalley, a retired chemical engineer, has been committed to tournament bridge for decades. He is a longtime unit officer and is currently the executive secretary for Unit 201, keeping the books and helping the organization with his time and talents. Starting in 1988, however, Smalley

Top-seeded Nickell exits Vanderbilt

Dallas 2006

In yesterday's quarterfinal round of the Vanderbilt Knockouts, the squad captained by Bob Hollman — the original #24 seed — defeated the #1 seed led by Nick Nickell. Hollman (Bruce Ferguson, Ron Smith, Billy Cohen, Joe Grue and Curtis Cheek) trailed by 13 IMPs at the end of the first quarter, but had a great second set to lead 72-53 at the half. They increased their lead to 110-72 at the end of the third quarter, and held on against a furious Nickell rally in the last set to win 118-113.

Hollman will face Fred Chang's squad (the original #44 seed) in the semifinal round.

Chang (Gunnar Hallberg, Fu Zhong, Zhao Zie and Seymon Deutsch) defeated Grant Baze's squad135-124. Chang jumped out to a 40-IMP lead in the first quarter and maintained it through three sets. Baze rallied in the last set, but it was not enough.

Lurie, Feinswog lead in Red Ribbon Pairs

Robert Lurie, Wayland MA, and Ben Feinswog, Coconut Grove FL, took the lead yesterday in the Bean Red Ribbon Pairs. They scored a huge 67.9% game in the afternoon and followed up with nearly 59% at night.

Sherryl Buchler and Ned Kohler, both of Scottsdale AZ are the second-place qualifiers, followed by Stephen Johnson and Ruth Clements, both from Wichita Falls KS.

A total of 104 pairs qualified from a starting field of 202 pairs. The event concludes today.

Landen, Pratap R. top IMP qualifiers

Steve Landen, of Ellicott City MD, and Pratap Rajadhyaksha, of Powell OH, posted the highest IMP total in yesterday's qualifying round of the Lebhar IMP Pairs. The leaders were plus 131.54.

In second with plus 115.19 were Dan Jacob, of Vancouver BC, and Robert Lebi, of Toronto ON, with plus 115.19.

There were 238 pairs that entered the contest, but only 130 pairs — the top 65 in each direction — will play in today's two-session final.

Weinstein, Bjerkan set pace in Women's Pairs

Sue Weinstein of Las Vega NV and Cheri Bjerkan Elmhurst IL led yesterday's qualifiers in the Whitehead Women's Pairs. With a 56.53% in the afternoon and a 66.70% in the evening, Weinstein and Bjerkan lead the next closest pair — Sylvia Moss and Judi Radin of New York City — by one board.

Of the 90 pairs that entered the event, 52 made the cut to today's two-session final.

Today is Dallas Aces Day

Thirty-eight years ago, two Texan bridge enthusiasts, one a businessman and the other a bridge expert, came up with an idea that was to change the face of bridge. They decided to create the world's first professional team, with the express purpose of bringing the world title back to the United States. They chose the name Dallas Aces, which was later shortened to The Aces.

The businessman was Ira Corn Jr., chief executive of Michigan General Corporation and a former assistant professor at Southern Methodist University. The player was Bobby Wolff, a bridge club owner and teacher from San Antonio.

It all started with Corn who was inspired by what he saw in the 1964 World Team Olympiad in New York. Corn had become interested in bridge and he traveled to the world championship to have a closer look at the top players in the game. What he saw was the Italian Blue Team, a finely tuned bridge machine which dominated the field and defeated a strong American team in the final.

Corn left New York with dreams of creating an American squad that could wrest the world championship from the seemingly invincible Wolff invited other young stars to join them in Dallas to train as a team. Corn selected five players from among America's leading young experts, agreeing to pay each a salary, plus tournament expenses, to undertake a fulltime career of studying and playing bridge.

He invited: Bobby Goldman from Philadelphia; Mike Lawrence, Eddie Kantar and Bob Hamman from California; Billy Eisenberg from New York and Jim Jacoby, who was already in Dallas. Two of the initial invitees, Hamman and

Unbelievable

Barbara Heller, of Atlanta GA, is one tough declarer. If you want proof, check out this deal from a knockout match where she brought home a 5. contract on a 4-3 trump fit with the opposing trumps 6-0. And it wasn't just six low trumps either, it was K-10-x-x-x-x!

West had ventured a speculative double of 3NT, and probably thought he had hit the jackpot when the opponents not only ran from 3NT, but decided to play game in a suit in which he had six cards headed by the K-10. The first double may have been speculative, but he second was Heller was unfazed, however. When West led a low club, she won in hand with the $8, noting the foul split. She played a heart to the ace, crossed back to her hand with a high spade, played another high spade and ruffed a spade in dummy. After a successful diamond finesse, she cashed the A (in preparation for the ending), and when that lived, she ruffed another spade.

The entire deal was now counted. Heller knew that West was down to five trumps in this ending with the lead in dummy:

Heller called for the \mathbf{V} K, ruffed by West (the first trick for the defense) who perforce exited with a trump. Declarer won the 9 and played the last spade. West again had to ruff and play a club from the K-10 into declarer's A-J.

Making five doubled for plus 750, but only a 3-IMP gain when North-South at the other table made 10 tricks in 3NT.

Hungry for entries

Rod Beery earned his team 12 IMPs on this deal from their semifinal match in the Tuesday-Wednesday Knockouts, a critical result since their margin of victory was only 4 IMPs. Beery was playing with partner Jim Murphy.

Beery received the lead of the $\blacklozenge Q$. He played low from dummy and ruffed in the closed hand before firing a low spade back.

West could not afford to win this trick since it would likely give up the entire spade suit, so he ducked. Dummy's king won the trick.

Declarer then pitched his remaining spade on the A and ruffed a spade. In order to set up dummy's suit, however, declarer needed two entries back to dummy — one to ruff out the A(assuming the suit was splitting 3-3) and another to get back to the established winners.

So Beery played a spade toward dummy and inserted the 9 when West played low. When this worked, he ruffed another spade in his hand, crossed to the A (drawing the outstanding trumps) and took two heart pitches on the good spades in dummy.

It's a bidders game

By Bruce Greenspan

It doesn't matter how good your declarer skills are if you're not in the right contract. Bidding is, in essence, learning a foreign language. As you develop your skills, you will add conventions that will help elicit information from partner. Note, however, you need a solid understanding of the basics before you start adding sophisticated gadgets to your repertoire.

In any auction, the idea is to find the proper level and the right denomination. Usually it best to seek out an eight-card fit in a major suit. If the first two bids are suit bids at the one level, we know very little about where this auction is headed.

Let's say you open 1 & and partner responds 1 All we know of opener is that he has about 13 high-card points and three clubs; responder has 6 HCP and four spades. Opener may have 16 HCP and six clubs, and responder may have five spades and 14 HCP. You will not know until later in the auction.

In the second round of bidding, opener and responder make what are known as value bids. As opener, you must tell partner if you are in the minimum, medium or maximum range. Many times you may not bid your shape in order to tell your partner about your range.

Opener's three ranges are minimum (13 to 16 HCP), medium (17 to 18) and maximum (19 or more).

Responder's three ranges are minimum (6 to a bad 10 HCP), medium (11 to 12) and maximum (13 or more).

The mantra for minimum hands for both opener and responder is, "Rebid your suit, rebid (or prefer) partner's suit or rebid 1NT." Opener has one more option. If his second suit is of a lower denomination, he may bid that suit at the two level. For example in the following auction:

OpenerResponder1♥1♠2♣

We know opener has five hearts, four or more clubs and a minimum or medium hand (the 2.4 rebid does not deny 17 HCP).

- 1♥ 1♠
- 2♣ 2♥

How many HCP and how many hearts does responder have? Responder has 6 to 9 points and exactly two hearts (with a hand worth one bid and three-card support, he would raise directly). This is responder's hand:

▲K 9 8 7 6 ♥7 4 ◆K J 7 6 ♣8 6. If you hold this hand, after partner responds
2♣ showing five hearts, four or more clubs and a likely minimum, you may not bid your shape. Remember the mantra: with a minimum, your only choices are to pass, rebid your suit, prefer partner's first suit or rebid 1NT. If you bid 2♠ now and partner bids 2NT or 3NT, they will have to call the director because after the opening lead you won't want to put dummy on the table (no one would).

Say you hold:

▲K9876 ♥743 ♦KJ7 ♣86

Partner opens $1 \checkmark$. Your bid is $2 \checkmark$. To paraphrase the bandit in "Treasure of Sierra Madre", "We don't need no stinking spades in this auction." It's not often you can describe your hand in one bid. This bid tells partner I have at least three-card support and 6 to 9 points — perfect. The previous auction is just taking a false preference because you have no other bid.

With a minimum response versus a minimum opener, stop as soon as possible. With a medium hand, invite game, and with a maximum, get to the right game.

Here's an auction you don't want to experience.

This sort of auction usually ends with a double.

Defensive commentary: West continues with the \blacklozenge K, East discarding the \blacklozenge Q. The discard of an honor indicates an honor sequence, the highest one being discarded. Basically it means that had East been on lead, he would have led the \blacklozenge Q. West continues with a low diamond, declarer inserts the 10 from dummy, East ruffs and returns a heart to South's ace.

responder is always invitational. If you play that a response of 2NT to a minor opening is 13 to 16 HCP, this is an entirely different auction.

Opener	Responder
1 ♣	1♥
1	2NT

Responder has 11 to 12 HCP. A rebid of 1NT would show 6 to a bad 10 points, a jump to 3NT 13 or more.

Bidding commentary: If East-West play "support doubles," West can double 2, showing three hearts, whereas a raise to $2 \lor$ would guarantee four. In the absence of this convention, South, with a side-suit singleton, should raise to $2 \lor$ rather than rebidding $2 \blacklozenge$, a bid that suggests a six-card suit.

Play commentary: South has lost three tricks and is sure to lose another heart, not to mention finding the &Q to make the contract. Any clues? Just three! (1). East discarded on the second diamond, so West is known to have five diamonds. (2) Hearts have been bid and supported and South is looking at six hearts. East must have four and West three. (3) And spades? Spades is an unbid suit. No matter. South is looking at a total of five spades between his hand and dummy. The opponents have eight spades. If either had five spades, the suit would have been bid eons ago. Ergo, spades are 4-4 and the hand counts out! West, the player with the known long suit - diamonds - started with four spades, three hearts, five diamonds and one club. South leads a club to the king, removing West's club, and then plays a club to the jack, followed by the A, dropping East's queen. Dummy is entered with the $\bigstar K$ to discard a losing heart on the $\blacklozenge Q$. Making three!

added the title of tournament director to his resume.

"I'm a part-time director, about 40 sessions per year. I direct for the fun of it."

The bridge players in the unit were recently put to the test when Hurricane Rita came ashore near the Texas-Louisiana border last September. The powerful storm caused much damage though significantly less loss of life than the infamous Katrina. Many people suffered damage to their homes, including Smalley whose house was tremendously damaged by a falling tree. He reports, however, that the unit club in Beaumont sustained only minor damage.

"We were closed for several weeks, but we're back to normal now. We even ran our annual sectional on schedule."

Other clubs in the unit were not so lucky. In Orange TX, the community center where the club met was destroyed. The members of the club have subsequently relocated to a local church.

Smalley, 62, and his wife Nancy are both Gold Life Masters. They have three grown children.

Their 40-IMP lead shrunk to 11 by the end of the third set, and became narrower still in the final quarter, but Shugart hung on to win by 4 IMPs: 150-146.

Walker and Kniest play negative free bids which explains Kniest's 2♥ call. Walker raised, ending the auction.

West led a low diamond to the ace, won the diamond return and exited with the &Q. Declarer, Kniest, won in the closed hand and made the good play of a spade toward dummy, inserting the jack when West played low.

East won the ace and played the \bullet 10 to the 5, jack and king. Dummy's \bullet K was cashed followed by another spade. East declined to ruff with his singleton king (declarer would just discard his club loser), so declarer ruffed low. A diamond ruff was next followed by another spade. Again, East did not ruff with the king, and again, declarer ruffed low, establishing the \bullet 9 in dummy.

A heart to the ace picked up East's king, and Kniest called for the good spade, pitching his remaining club. West, with nothing but trumps left, was forced to ruff and lead a heart from the J-7 into declarer's Q-10. Plus 140 for the winners.

Can the defense do better? Yes: they must either lead a club or switch to clubs at trick two before declarer has time to establish the spades for a club pitch.

Impaired communications

This deal was reported by both Marty Hirschman, who kibitzed declarer Jennifer Williams, and by Wafik Abdou, who —- with Connie Goldberg —- was a defender on this deal (rotated) at a different table.

West	North	East	South

2♦	3♣	3♦	3♠
4♦	4	All Pass

West led the ♦3 (third- and fifth-best leads). West's failure to lead a heart suggested to Williams that East had a six-card heart suit surely West would have led a singleton in partner's first-bid suit.

Williams called for dummy's $\blacklozenge J$ (a good choice, as we shall see later), covered by the king and ace. Two rounds of spades were next, and then Williams made the excellent play of another diamond.

Williams did this to sever the defenders' communications. If West wins this trick with the queen, he's endplayed. If East wins the trick with the 10, he can't cash the top hearts since declarer will then be able to claim. If East instead wins the diamond and cashes one high heart before switching to a club, declarer will duck. West can win the king, but again is endplayed.

There is no answer to the communicationsevering play of a diamond at trick four.

Against Abdou and Goldberg, declarer was less inspired, but the defenders still had to be on their toes. First, the auction at their table:

West	North	East	South
Goldberg		Abdou
	Pass	2♥	3♠
Pass	4	All Pass

Goldberg led a low diamond (declarer knows that West is void in hearts) to the jack, king and ace. Two rounds of spades were followed by a heart from the closed hand. Against this line the defense can succeed, but they must be careful. Abdou won the heart and switched to a club, ducked by declarer. Goldberg won the A and trusting that partner had the $\diamond 10$ (else he would have cashed the other high heart), she exited with a low diamond to Abdou's 10. The \forall A was then the setting trick.

Second in the Mixed Pairs were Kitty and Steven Cooper.

The Facts: 4♣ failed one trick for a score of E-W plus 100. The 1♣ opening bid was Alerted as "may be short" (not a big club). The 1♠ response was Alerted as showing no four-card major and a non-game forcing hand. The 1NT overcall by South was strong and natural. North's 2♠ bid was a transfer to clubs and Alerted as such. The double of 3♦ was for takeout. The director determined that the 3NT bid was made after a hesitation of a few seconds. The players agreed that it was after about 8-10 seconds.

The Ruling: The director ruled that if South had made an immediate* call of 3NT after the double of $3 \blacklozenge$, it would tend to confirm a good club fit and that the pause (BIT) suggested some doubt about the playability of 3NT. Applying Law 16, the director found that there was a logical alternative to bidding $4\clubsuit$, which was pass. Accordingly, the director adjusted the score to 3NT down four, E-W plus 400.

The Appeal: N-S contended that since they had never encountered methods like these before (where 1 ▲ had such a meaning), they would always need a bit of extra time to digest the meanings of the bids. They also contended that South could have bid 3NT over the 3 ◆ call directly if his hand was a 'perfecto' opposite a six-card club suit, knowing that partner was free to pull it when he was utterly broke. Accordingly, North already knew that his partner did not hold the perfecto (presumably three aces and good club support or something near that). E-W presented arguments along the same lines as the director's ruling. decided that the pause of 8-10 seconds to process that information does not generate such a break in tempo as to call into play Law 16. The committee restored the table result of 4.4 down one for both sides, N-S minus 100, E-W plus 100.

The Committee: Michael Huston, chair; Dick Budd and Gail Greenberg.

*Note: Upon inquiry by the Casebook Manager, the director said that by immediate she meant intempo – not fast.

APPEALS CASE 4

Subject: Misinformation (MI) and Unauthorized Information (UI) DIC: Harry Falk Event: Fast Open Pairs Session: Monday, April 3, 2006, First Session Brd: #29 ▲ K 10 3 2 Dlr: North ♥ 7 Vul: Both ♦ Q 9 8 6 5 3 4 10 2 ▲ 54 ▲ 87 ♥ J 6 4 2 ♥ A 8 5 ♦ K72 • A J 10 4 4 J 6 5 3 ♣ A K 9 8 ▲ A Q J 9 6 ♥ K Q 10 9 3 ♣Q74 West North East South Pass 1NT 2♥ (1) 3♦ Pass Pass 3♠ All Pass

(1) Alerted and explained as hearts and a minor.

The Facts: The $2 \lor$ call was Alerted and explained as hearts and an unknown minor. South's convention card defined the $2 \lor$ call as hearts and spades. The table result was $3 \bigstar$ making five, plus 200 for N-S, after the opening lead of the $\bigstar 5$.

The Ruling: While there was MI as the N-S agreement is majors, the MI was judged not to be a damaging factor.

South had UI, which demonstrably suggested the 3♠ call. Pass was determined to be a less successful logical alternative (Law 16). Therefore, the score for both pairs was adjusted to the result in a contract of 3♦ by N-S, which was down three, minus 300 for N-S (Law 12C2).

The Appeal: South reiterated his statement that he felt his hand merited further action. He could almost make a game in his own hand.

The Decision: Three players were polled. They were given the information that the $2 \checkmark$ call showed the majors. Two chose to pass. One chose to bid $3 \checkmark$ as he hated to pass with a void in partner's suit and thought partner would work out that he had the majors.

You lead the Ψ 9, declarer wins and advances a club. You take your A, but now what? Look at all four hands before deciding.

When the deal was played against Bob Bridger, Raleigh NC, East exited with a club, won by the king and on which declarer discarded his low heart. The $\bigstar10$ was led and trumps pulled. He then cashed more trumps.

With one trump left, this was the position:

When Bridger led the last trump, West had to discard a diamond (or dummy's clubs would be good). Declarer then led a diamond to the ace and cashed the AQ. West had to save a club and East had to save a heart, so no one could save three diamonds. East only had two diamonds, so his hand (in practice) didn't matter — making six on a squeeze.

Can you hold declarer to five? When the deal was analyzed by Deep Finesse, it showed that when in with the A, there is one suit you can switch to that does so — a diamond! Even though that gives up a diamond trick, the diamond switch tangles up declarer's entries. He can't draw trumps and get back to dummy to cash the A.

The Decision: The first issue for the committee to confront was whether there was a break in tempo which demonstrably suggested a line of action. A rapid (or "immediate") call of 3NT would clearly indicate that South's cards were ideal for the bid. As such, that might constitute unwonted speed which could also lead to a violation of Law 16. South's pause of 8 to 10 seconds was the normal result of his being confronted with very unusual methods which required him to review the meaning of all North's and East's bids. Therefore, the committee The panel decided that pass is a logical alternative and that a $3 \clubsuit$ call is a blatant attempt to get partner's attention. The panel upheld the director's decision in assigning a result of $3 \blacklozenge$ down three, minus 300 for N-S and plus 300 for E-W.

Since the appellant was informed of the poll taken of other players in the discussion with the reviewer and continued to support his 3 A call, the panel imposed an Appeal Without Merit Warning (AWMW).

The Panel: Patty Holmes (reviewer), Bernie Gorkin and Charlies MacCracken

Players consulted: Cam Doner, Fred Hamilton and Barry Harper.

Aces

Kantar, turned Corn down. They were enjoying some success in their developing partnership and didn't want to change. Furthermore, Hamman had misgivings about the whole idea.

The other players may have also wondered whether they could make the project work, but their doubts were not strong enough to keep them from signing on as Dallas Aces. Wolff played with Jacoby. Eisenberg, Goldman and Lawrence played as a threesome.

Progress for the Dallas Aces was slow at first. Practice sessions were often disorganized and partnerships lacked structure. Then came Joe Musumeci, a retired U.S. Air Force officer, hired by Corn to shape up the troops. He ran disciplined, structured practice sessions and enforced Corn's dictum that partnerships have firm bidding agreements.

The team made its debut in 1968 and soon were the terrors of the bridge world. At the 1968 Summer NABC in Minneapolis, Eisenberg and Goldman won the Life Master Pairs. Wolff and Jacoby were second.

Hamman took notice, and it wasn't very long before he signed on with the Dallas Aces. He joined in January of 1969. The partnerships were now Goldman–Eisenberg, Wolff–Jacoby and Hamman–Lawrence.

The Dallas Aces used a computer to analyze results and to generate specific sets of hands to provide practice in given areas of the game - slam hands, preemptive openings, etc. The use of a computer was a pioneer step. They were not available to the general public at that time. The Aces spent 50 to 60 hours a week perfecting the bidding systems and discussing problems encountered at the table. Complete records of all hands played were compiled for critical analysis. Bridge players have big egos, but those egos had to be put aside.

From the intensive study and analysis emerged various bidding styles including the Orange Club, used by Wolff and Jacoby; the similar Black Club, used by Hamman and Eisenberg; and the Aces Scientific system, used by Goldman and Lawrence. Besides competing in North American championships and regional knockout team contests, the Aces also engaged many of America's top experts in practice matches in Dallas and staged a series of exhibition matches. By the following summer, the Aces had become a virtual steamroller in the bridge world. In the Spingold Knockout Teams at the 1969 Summer NABC in Coronado CA, the Aces won every match but the final by more than 100 IMPs. In the championship match, they pounded a strong team led by Ira Rubin, 211–116.

The Aces stormed through the team trials later that year to earn a berth in the 1970 Bermuda Bowl in Stockholm, Sweden. The Aces were so dominant that they had clinched victory before the final quarter of the championship match against Taiwan (that year scoring was by quarters with IMPs converted to Victory Points). The famed Italian Blue Team was missing, but that didn't lessen their excitement.

The next year, the Aces followed up with another convincing victory, this time over a strong French team in the Bermuda Bowl final in Taiwan.

Up to now, the Aces were receiving a salary and expenses. Shortly after that tournament, the Aces were no longer Corn's full-time employees, although he still paid some expenses for the team.

For a long time, any team with Hamman and Wolff was known, unofficially at least, as the Aces. The makeup of the Aces began to change.

In 1972, the Aces were runnerup to Italy in the Team Olympiad. Jacoby-Wolff played the Orange Club; Hamman-Soloway, the Green Club and Goldman-Lawrence, Standard American with special treatments.

In early 1973, Soloway was replaced by Mark Blumenthal. The Aces were second to Italy in the Bermuda Bowl, playing as two threesomes: Wolff-Hamman-Jacoby playing Aces Club and Goldman-Lawrence-Blumenthal playing Standard American with special treatments. Soon thereafter Lawrence and Jacoby left the team and were replaced by Eric Murray and Sami Kehela.

In 1974 the Aces were second to Italy with Hamman-Wolff playing the Aces Club, Blumenthal-Goldman, Aces Scientific, and Kehela-Murray, Colonial Acol.

In 1975 Eddie Kantar and John Swanson made their first appearances in international play with the Aces and Soloway-Eisenberg were back on the team. The Aces were second to Italy in the Bermuda Bowl and the team was Hamman-Wolff (Aces Club); Eisenberg-Kantar, Soloway-Swanson (Standard American with special treatments).

In 1976 North America did not fare well in the Team Olympiad, but won the Bermuda Bowl. On the

Who are the Dallas Aces?

Bobby Wolff is an eleven-time world championship. He served as President of the ACBL and subsequently president of the World Bridge Federation. He began and promoted the concept of active ethics. He is a syndicated bridge columnist. Wolff, an ACBL Hall of Fame member and WBF Grand Master, has ranked as high as #3 in the world. He is the only player to have won a world championship in five different categories. Wolff, a Dallas resident for many years, now lives in Las Vegas. and ACBL and an ACBL Hall of Fame member. He was author of "Aces Scientific", a book on bidding. Goldman was responsible for the Super Gerber and Exclusion Blackwood conventions.

Mike Lawrence is a WBF Grand Master and ACBL Grand Life Master. Besides being a manytime world champion player, he is also one of the world's leading authors of bridge books. "How to Read Your Opponents Cards" and "The Complete Book on Overcalls" are considered classics. He is also a frequent contributor to the Bridge Bulletin. He resides in Brentwood, TN.

Go and sin no more

When the Dallas Aces were developing their team, they came up with a list of actions that were absolute no-no's. They called them the Seven Deadly Sins:

1. No-win declarer plays

- 2. No-win defensive plays
- 3. Bidding without values
- 4. System violations
- 5. Unilateral actions
- 6. Mechanical mistakes
- 7. Impulsive actions

Numbers 1 and 2 were judged not by the result, but whether the play made couldn't have been right.

team were two former Aces — Soloway and Eisenberg.

The Aces won the 1977 Bermuda Bowl as Zone 2 representatives, and another team from North America finished second. Playing for the Aces once again were Hamman-Wolff, Soloway-Swanson and Eisenberg-Kantar.

In 1979 four ex-Aces won the Bermuda Bowl in Rio on a team captained by Malcolm Brachman (Eisenberg, Goldman, Kantar, Soloway).

The next year, in the 1980 World Team Olympiad, Corn captained the Aces to second place behind France. His team was Hamman-Wolff, still playing the Aces Club; Soloway Ira Rubin (Standard American with special treatments) and Fred Hamilton-Mike Passell (five-card majors and 2/1 game force).

In 1981 for the first time in many years no Ace or former Ace was present on the U.S. International Team. But in the fall of 1981 Corn put together one more Aces team. He had great hopes for Hamman-Wolff (the only players to remain constantly with the Aces throughout a 13year period), Alan Sontag-Peter Weichsel and Mike Becker-Ron Rubin.

Corn died suddenly of a heart attack in April, 1982. Just three months later, the Aces won the Spingold in Albuquerque and qualified for the International Team Trials in Minneapolis that November. Hamman, in summing up the history and the victory of this Aces team, reported, "Just say that we won one for big Ira." They also won the Minneapolis trials, with Musumeci as nonplaying captain. The team went on to win the Bermuda Bowl in 1983 in Stockholm, Sweden, and the team dedicated that victory to their former patron.

Grand Life Master. He won the McKenney Trophy (now called the Barry Crane Top 500) in 1988.

Ira Corn, a Dallas businessman and assistant professor at Southern Methodist University, formed the original Dallas Aces. His vision and sponsorship were responsible for the Aces becoming world champions. Corn was reared in a Baptist home where no cards were permitted, but when, as a college student, he was invited to sit in a bridge game, he discovered it was much like a game called Rook, which has colors instead of suits, numbers instead of face cards. "Rook is really Baptist Bridge," he said. He played social bridge until 1961 when he started playing tournament bridge. Corn was the ACBL president in 1980 and died in 1982.

Bob Hamman is still a Dallas resident. He is CEO of SCA Promotions, a company that underwrites and insures payout on games of luck or skill for a promotional contest such as those where fans try for a million-dollar basketball shot from half-court. Hamman's the man who sets the rules and figures the odds — and, in the event of a lucky longshot, pays off the big winner. He is a WBF Grand Master and ACBL Grand Life Master and world champion many times over. He was ranked #1 in the world for many years and is an ACBL Hall of Fame member.

Bobby Goldman was a Dallas resident who died in 1999. He was a many-time world champion who was a Grand Master in the WBF Billy Eisenberg, of Perris CA, is a WBF Grand Master and ACBL Grand Life Master. He won five Bermuda Bowl championships with four different partners and he represented the ACBL in three others. Eisenberg, whose nickname is "Broadway Billy," has won numerous European championships including the prestigious London Sunday Times Pairs. An ACBL Hall of Fame member, he also won the world Backgammon championship in 1974.

Jim Jacoby was a Dallas resident who died in 1991. He is the winner of many world championships and an ACBL Hall of Fame member. He was a syndicated bridge columnist. Jacoby was a World Grand Master and an ACBL Joe Musumeci was a retired U.S. Air Force officer, a bridge teacher, a writer and a Gold Life Master. He was hired by Corn as coach and trainer of Dallas Aces team. Corn charged him with the responsibility for running disciplined, structured practice sessions for the team. He enforced Corn's dictum that the partnerships have firm bidding agreements. He was associated with the late Ira Corn in the bridge column Aces on Bridge and ghost contributor to other Aces publications. Musumeci died in 2004.

"Mother" Harding visits Dallas tournament director Julie Harding, known to many by her nickname "Mother," is in Dallas to visit with her many friends in the bridge world, especially fellow TDs. Harding, a 40-year veteran of directing, got her start in 1957.

"I always loved to play cards, and in the early Fifties I met Mervin Key, a world-class bridge player," said Harding, who now lives in Hollywood CA. She married Key and quickly learned the game. The couple traveled to many tournaments.

"When we realized he was the better player, I decided to be the worker at the tournaments. I started to help out in a variety of jobs which allowed me to get our hotel room paid for by the tournaments."

Julie Key (now Harding) soon became a good player as well, pairing up with some of the top players of the day, including John Gerber.

The Keys then opened a bridge club together. Mervin taught and Julie directed.

The nickname "Mother" was bestowed by wellknown Texas tournament director "Big John" Emery, a larger-than-life figure on the tournament scene. Emery was fond of assigning nicknames to his directing staff (some of them wildly inappropriate by today's standards), and Julie was dubbed "Mother."

"I am motherly," she explained, noting that generations of tournament directors and players now know her by that moniker.

Harding retired from active directing in 1997.

"Mother" Harding provided this photo of the squad that represented North America in the 1962 world championships in New York. NPC John Gerber (inset). (Back) Charles Coon, Harding's then-husband Mervin Key, Ron van der Porten. (Front) Eric Murray, Bobby Nail, Lew Mathe.

Each player must have an ACBL convention card filled out and on the table. Please note that other types of convention cards, such as the WBF convention card or homemade cards that do not sufficiently resemble the ACBL convention card, are not acceptable substitutes.

1NT range Announcement

Announcing your 1NT range remains a requirement in ACBL-sanctioned tournament play. Failure to Announce your 1NT range, while rarely penalized, remains a procedural infraction.
