Donner started out well, going up 15–2 over the first four boards, which included a 10-IMP pickup when Grue – Moss found their spade fit and bid and made a vulnerable game opposite a club partscore played by Katz–Nickell at the other table:

After that, the IMPs just rained in the Nickell column. They went on a 44–6 run to close out the quarter up by 25.

The second quarter started like the first quarter ended –with a torrent of plus scores for Nickell, this time a 43–6 run over eight boards. By the half, Nickell was up by 66; the score was 99–33.

The third quarter belonged to Donner, however. While holding Nickell to 1 IMP, they scored 37. By the time the dust settled, the Nickell lead was cut to 30, certainly possible to stage a comeback.

The first board of the final quarter was a push, with both sides reaching a no-play 3NT. On board 44, both E–W pairs missed a spade game, but Grue–Moss missed playing in spades altogether after interference in their strong-club auction. They played 3♣ down one, for 6 IMPs to Nickell. After a few more pickups, board 50 was the dagger:

Online Bridge: Different Mechanics, Same Laws

By Robb Gordon, ACBL National Recorder

When we play online, we are still playing bridge. The Laws of Duplicate Bridge and ACBL Regulations still apply. But facing facts, some things are different. Here are a few:

1. Revoking and leading out of turn are impossible.
2. You must self-Alert.
3. Because you are Alerting only the opponents, and asking questions only of one or both opponents, partner does not "hear" your explanations or questions and that avenue of Unauthorized Information has been eliminated. This saves a lot of arguments and bad feelings.
4. Breaks in tempo are awkward. At the table, if somebody takes a lot of time, you can see that they (presumably) are thinking. In online bridge, it could mean that their tea kettle started whistling and they went to turn off the burner. Law 73E2:

If the Director determines that an innocent player has drawn a false inference from a question, remark, manner, tempo or the like, of an opponent who has no demonstrable bridge reason for the action, and who could have been aware, at the time of the action, that it could work to his benefit, the Director shall award an adjusted score.

This rule applies. When you spill coffee or are distracted by a phone call, it is incumbent on you to make sure the opponents know so they are not deceived by your inattention.

5. The ACBL has long had a rule that partnerships have two identical convention cards with their names on them. The convention card rules apply to BBO as well, except you need have only one card. To make a convention card, log in. Click Account on the right tabbed menu and select the Convention Cards heading. It is pretty easy to recall a saved card or to complete and save a new one. Remember to load your card by completing the Use With Partner blank with your partner's BBO name.

6. The ACBL Convention Charts apply here. Make sure your convention is permitted in the game you are playing. For example, a 2♦ opening that shows a weak hand with length in one of the majors is an Open+ Chart convention and is not permitted in any event in the online regional.
7. It has come to our attention that some players have more than one BBO user ID. Please only use one ID when playing in ACBL games with human opponents. We are screening for this.
8. Because you are playing in an ACBL game against human opponents, we encourage you to make sure your profile displays your real name.

Keep it Clean

Most of us are honest and want to play the game properly. When you play against an opponent you suspect is not playing in accordance with the Laws, or violating the Code of Disciplinary Regulations, please file a Player Memo. There is a version streamlined for online play reports available at www.acbl.org/bbomemo/. You may privately text your director as well, but making a public accusation is itself a violation of the CDR, so please report suspicious conduct in an actively ethical way!

"I've volunteered to be one of the investigators when there is suspicion of Unauthorized Information during online play. There are a lot of factors to consider, not least of which is the suspected player's experience level.

Accusations of cheating are a serious matter. Anyone can do something strange on one deal; but when a pattern emerges, there is smoke. Where there is smoke, there is often fire. For charges to be filed, more than one investigator has to come to the same conclusion.

The game will be better and more popular if we all behave ethically.

Big Brother is watching you." – Larry Cohen

BBO Help Desk - How to report a deal

When something happens in an online game that seems suspicious to you, you may want to report it. There are several options: You can call the director, you can file a player memo with the ACBL recorder, you can flag the deal for BBO to review, or you can simply save a deal for your own records.

During or after a game, you can find your played deals in the History tab. If it's during the game, go to My Table. If it's later, go to Recent tournaments and find the appropriate game.

Once you are in the results of either the current game or the past game you are looking for, select the board you want to look at by clicking on that line. The deal will appear in the bottom of the right panel.

Focusing on the bottom right corner of the screen, click the triple bar in this area to access the menu.

From this menu, select Export. That will bring up another menu of export options.

To flag the deal for BBO, click Send abuse report. A prompt will allow you to enter your comments about the deal. To save the deal for your records, click Save deal as. To file a player memo, click Handviewer link. You can copy and paste this link into an email, a text file or the player memo form at acbl.org/bbomemo.

If you want to call the director during a game, click the triple bar in the main section of the screen at top left. From the menu that appears, select Call Director. You can also use this menu to view your opponents' convention cards.
